Daily Routine Here Slowed Up By More Snow

Streets And Roads Made 'Treacherous' Despite Salting

Fayette Countians looked up at snow-filled skies and out over the white landscape Wednesday and muttered dolefully: "Again?"

The answer was "yes." More than an inch of snow had fallen before noon and from 2 to 4 inches more were predicted for the whole area within the next 12 hours.

Motorists moaned at the prospect of more snow on top of the fall which only last Thursday had choked streets and highways, making them all but impassable.

The city, county and state crews were out with a dozen trucks to salt down the white stuff and were preparing to get out plows as well if the snowfall continues as predicted.

Highway-clearing crews from all three garages were wondering what they would do when, if, present supplies of snow-melting salt runs out. The salt was reportedly running low at all three.

"There's more on the way," said one city employee. "But if it does not get here before we run out, I don't know what we'll do."

SHERIFF Orland Hays said Wednesday morning that roads throughout the county were "slick." To the north and west, he said, authorities are classing the roads as "treacherous."

By mid-morning, roads to the south and east were still rated "fair," he added.

The state Highway Patrol headquarters at Wilmington was warning motorists that roads north and west from Cincinnati were "slippery" and threatened "bad traveling."

Temperatures will plunge to the neighborhood of 10 above zero by Wednesday night, the Highway Patrol predicted—cold enough to put a slick surface on the expected 3 to 5 inches of snow.

By 1:30 P. M. Wednesday, neither city nor county school authorities had announced plans to cut school sessions short, though Supt. W. W. Boyer of the Miami Trace schools pointed out that the final decisions in this rural district rested with principals of individual schools.

SHORTLY after noon, reports from the Union Bus Station here indicated that buses were still keeping to their schedules.

Battling the snow on streets and highways, crews were using the last of their dwindling salt supplies and preparing to start plowing operations.

Three crews were available for salting city streets, but employees estimated that only enough salt remained for one more round.

The county had five crews out scraping the roads and another two salting.

From the state highway garage, eight crews went out to salt down highways. "A little bit more snow and we'll have to start plowing," one state employee said Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, the snow kept right on coming.

Washington C. H. Is Growing --- $1,552,335 Put Into Increased Housing

104 New Homes Built Here Last Year

Washington C. H. is growing, and growing fast.

More than a million and a half dollars' worth of building permits issued here last year are testimony to that.

Over 30 acres of land in three developments were added to the city during 1955. Five new streets criss-crossing the developments have been accepted. Three other streets have been extended into the new territory. Permits for 104 new homes were issued.

All that adds up to progress—to a boom, in fact.

Biggest single entry in the $1,552,335 worth of building authorized in 1955 permits was the new $385,000 pumping station of the Ohio Water Service Co., currently under construction.

But perhaps the most significant figure of all is the total of 104 new homes authorized here during the year. Valuation of the new homes is $937,600.

THAT REPRESENTS a big jump over the previous year's total of new home building—one of the most reliable indicators of a city's growth.

In 1954, permits were issued for 54 new homes valued at $473,800, just over half the 1955 total. And 1954 building was up sharply from previous years.

While new homes account for the majority of 1955 building permit valuation—$937,600 of the $1,552,335 total—commercial construction was a big factor too. Biggest entries in the $511,925 commercial total, other than the new water pumping station, were remodeling of the Murphy Store, construction of two new Sunoco service stations and building of a new feed mill at the Eshelman Feed Co. Those four permits together carried estimates amounting to $87,200. All told, 20 commercial permits were issued.

Home renovations alone carried a $102,810 bill for the residents, according to estimates on the 132 permits granted.

NEW TERRITORY brought into the city during 1955 amounted to 30.5 acres. The three additions brought five new streets and three extensions of older streets into the city.

Biggest of the additions was the G. D. Baker Belle-Aire Number 3, totalling 15.3 acres. Bound-

But President Declines To Say If Verdict To Speed Political Decision

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower said today he plans another full-scale medical examination before mid-February. But he declined to say whether that will speed up his decision on whether to seek a second term.

The President told a news conference he has asked his doctors to arrange for an examination earlier than the middle of next month because he is planning a little trip to the South. He did not elaborate on that.

As for whether he will announce before or after the new physical whether he will bid for another four years in the White House, Eisenhower laughed heartily and replied that he couldn't say what his impulses might be.

Much of the questioning at the conference dealt with the second term question.

Eisenhower said in response to one inquiry that no members of his family are against his seeking reelection. There have been published reports that both Mrs. Eisenhower and her son, Maj. John Eisenhower, were opposed to the President's running again.

***
EISENHOWER was asked whether, if he does seek reelection, Vice President Nixon would be his choice as a running mate again.

In reply, Eisenhower said he never has talked to Nixon about that, and until he has had a chance to do so would prefer not to discuss it.

Eisenhower went on to speak warmly of the vice president, as he has several times in the past. Nixon, he said, has his admiration, respect and deep affection.

The President said he plans to discuss the political situation with Nixon, and he indicated he would sound out the vice president on Nixon's own plans for the future.

At one point, Eisenhower said there has never been a vice president so well versed in the activities of government as is Nixon.

Also in the political field, the President indicated opposition to the idea of any chief justice of the United States getting into politics to run for President.

There has been talk among some Republicans of "drafting" Chief Justice Earl Warren for the nomination if Eisenhower decides against running again.

The subject came up at the news conference in this manner: A reporter recalled that Warren has said that under no circumstances would he be interested in bidding for the presidency. The reporter then asked whether Eisenhower felt in general that a chief justice should get into politics.

***
THE PRESIDENT replied that when he won the Republican presidential nomination he immediately retired from the Army and resigned.

We ought not, the President said, let any situation develop where there would be too great confusion between politics and the Supreme Court. Persons in government, he added, have a responsibility to keep each part of the government respected in the people's eyes.

Eisenhower also said he believes we should guard against getting military and civilian powers tangled up.

He tried re-entering the home to save the others but suffered severe burns to his hands and was forced to stand by helplessly listening to the screams of the six children: Margaret, 16; Thomas, 11; Perry, 10; Sheila, 5; Harvey, 3; and Paula 1½.

Russian Envoy Hands Mystery Note To Ike

Speculation In U. S. Sees New Diplomatic Move By Bulganin

WASHINGTON (P)—A mystery message from Soviet Premier Bulganin to President Eisenhower had the capital speculating today the Russians plan to spring some new diplomatic maneuver.

Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin delivered the message personally to Eisenhower in the White House this morning.

Zarubin drove up in a black limousine, stepped out promptly, pushed through a crowd of newsmen with his head down and went through the doorway without speaking a word.

It was the first time Zarubin had called for a business session with the President since he came to Washington in September, 1952.

The most commonly held theory was that Bulganin was making a new approach on disarmament, subject on which he and Eisenhower exchanged notes last year after the Geneva summit conference.

The exchange followed Eisenhower's proposal for mutual aerial inspection of American and Russian military establishments. The Russians termed his plan unacceptable unless fitted into a broad disarmament program of the kind which they advocate and the United States has rejected.

***
DIPLOMATS, however, did not rule out the possibility of some Soviet bid for joint action in the Middle East or a proposal for high-level talks on Far Eastern problems, with Red China sitting in.

Zarubin's appointment with Eisenhower was announced late yesterday by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary. Hagerty said the record showed no comparable request for an appointment by the Soviet ambassador during the Truman or Eisenhower administrations.

The timing suggested that, whatever the precise subject, Bulganin wanted to make a propaganda play on the eve of high-level U.S. British talks.

Britain's Prime Minister, Sir Anthony Eden, is due here Monday to review with Eisenhower a range of world problems, with emphasis on the Middle East and Russia's new offensive there.

The Eisenhower-Bulganin exchange on disarmament began last Sept. 19. Eisenhower had proposed at the summit meeting that the United States and Russia open their skies to each other's aerial reconnaissance and that they trade blueprints of their military establishments. Bulganin, in subsequent speeches, sharply criticized the plan but said also it was worth serious consideration.

On Sept. 19 Eisenhower received from Bulganin a long letter which boiled down to this: Russia was interested "only if agreement is achieved" first on reduction of armaments and on "taking measures for the prohibition of atomic weapons."

Two witnesses previously testified that Sullivan was carrying the gun during the dance.

The state introduced a confession police said Sullivan signed after the shooting. Sullivan told the court he signed it so officers wouldn't "bother me anymore."

The victim's mother, Mrs. Dan Farley of Utica, told the court it would be difficult for her daughter to shoot herself because both her hands were crippled in an industrial accident.

She said Mrs. Sullivan's left hand had a stiff finger and there were three fingers missing from her right hand. She said only the thumb and little finger remained on the right hand.

4 Southern Governors Plan Protest To Supreme Court

RICHMOND, Va. (P)—Governors of four Southern states have agreed to ask their legislatures to protest the U. S. Supreme Court's decision that outlawed segregation in public schools.

The degree of protest that would be incorporated in the various interposition resolutions was left to the individual states, but there were indications three states would stop short of defying the high court.

Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina disclosed the stand of the chief executives in a statement yesterday that followed a six-hour conference on school segregation problems.

While none of the governors would commit himself immediately to a specific program, there were good indications Timmerman, Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia and Gov. J. P. Coleman of Mississippi would recommend resolutions that do not contain nullification or outright defiance.

Of those present, only Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia was outspokenly in favor of an all-out nullifying interposition resolution.

Also attending the conference was Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, who sat in as an observer but did not join in the declaration of policy because his state's Legislature is in no session.

Under the doctrine of interposition, the states interpose their sovereignty in the face of a federal action they consider "beyond the constitutional authority of the federal government."

They would raise a question of the contested powers between the interposing states and the Supreme Court and would ask Congress and the other states to settle the issue. This would be done by instituting action on a constitutional amendment saying the Supreme Court has the right to outlaw school segregation.

Such an amendment would have

Ike Opposes Race Angle In School Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower told his news conference today that in general he is against writing an anti-segregation amendment into the administration's school construction aid bill.

He said he believes that nothing should be written into the bill which would delay the school construction program. That would confuse the issues, he said.

The President added emphatically that the Supreme Court's desegregation ruling must be implemented, but he noted that the court itself called for gradual implementation.

The important thing, Eisenhower said, is to get the school aid bill passed swiftly. He said that if Congress should decide to write in an anti-segregation amendment he will understand, but that the big thing is to avoid any delay in enactment of the program.

The practical situation in Congress, which Eisenhower recognized by implication, is that an anti-segregation amendment might touch off a filibuster in the Senate.

Electronic Patents Freed; New Competition Predicted

WASHINGTON (P)—Top Justice

Department officials today foresaw fresh competition in the electronics field as a result of an anti-trust judgment releasing American Telephone and Telegraph Co. patents.

The patents, held by AT&T and its manufacturing affiliate Western Electric, cover every known means of electrical communication. They represent the fruits of 70 years of research in AT&T's Bell Laboratories.

The judgment was entered yesterday in Federal District Court in Newark, N. J., after government-company negotiation.

Some 8,600 of these patents will be available to any other U. S. concern that wants to use them and without any royalty payment.

Under the decree all other AT&T-Western Electric patents, now or in the future, must be made available to the general public "at reasonable and nondiscriminatory royalties." Where there is disagreement over what is reasonable, the court will fix the fee.

IN GRANTING patent rights, AT&T and Western Electric, will also be required to furnish "at reasonable charges" the technical knowhow for the most efficient use of the devices involved.

In New York, AT&T President Cleo F. Craig conceded that the terms of the consent decree are "stringent." He said, however, that the settlement will leave intact "the unique combination and teamwork of the operating companies, the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Western Electric Co. That over the years has produced for the people of this country the finest, most widely used and most progressive telephone service in the world."

Included in the freed patent list are such modern-day miracles as the tiny transistor and the AT&T solar battery. In addition, the companies have developed a complete color television system which has never been offered publicly.

Weather Is New Threat To Mothers March Here

The weather today renewed its threat to the Mothers March on Polio.

In a way, that was nothing new. Snows choking the county's roads after last Thursday's heavy snowfall had already slowed the recruiting of workers in the rural March, and were expected to hamper collections as well.

But more snow Wednesday brought with it the possibility that the city March might run into trouble too.

"We conducted the Mothers March on ice last year and did pretty well," said Eli Craig, chairman of the county's March of Dimes. "But if it gets extremely bad, we'll just have to postpone it. We'll have to wait until Thursday to see."

Scheduled for Thursday evening, the city Mothers March will be carried out as planned unless streets and sidewalks are impassable, according to Craig and Mrs. Herbert Sollars, chairman of the city drive.

They asked city residents planning to give to the drive to turn on their porlights unless they heard definitely that the drive had been postponed.

MEANWHILE, the new snowfall added further complications to an already complicated situation in the rural areas of the county.

Originally to have been carried out at the same time as the city drive, the rural canvass had to be started early when last week's snow made travel slow and hazardous. Chances are that the drive will have to be continued after Thursday too, according to Mrs. C. E. Rhoad, chairman for the rural March.

In Jeffersonville, dates remain unchanged — Friday and Saturday.

Elsewhere in the county, dates ranged all over the week's calendar. "Some workers have finished already," Mrs. Rhoad reported. "And I know of two courageous souls who have gone out today."

But generally, all that can be said is "we will just be done in time," she said. "An awful lot of sickness among the workers is affecting us, too."

The only way every home will be reached is if it would be contributors telephone either Mrs. Rhoad (4-5774) or their township chairmen, she said. She suggested that contributors wait until the first of next week to call.

A worker will go to homes to pick up gifts as soon as possible after the call, she promised.

"The workers are definitely going to see it through," Mrs. Rhoad summed up. "I'm thrilled to see the way they're working."

Ohio Supreme Court Upholds Bell Telephone Rate Boost

Fayette Countians will have to continue paying the telephone rate increase that went into effect Jan. 1, 1955; by the same token, they can just stop dreaming about getting a refund.

Ohio Bell Telephone users here, like those in 178 other communities, both large and small, in the state were affected by the decision of the Ohio Supreme Court which today upheld the increase that amounts to $7,633,570. The decision was 5 to 0.

The company has been collecting the higher rate that approximates 20 cents a month per customer since Jan. 1, 1955.

The Ohio Public Utilities Commission granted the increase Dec. 30, 1954, after cutting Ohio Bell's application for an increase totaling $8,913,000.

Eleven Ohio cities asked the Supreme Court to disallow the increase and to cut rates by about $12 million a year.

Cities joining in the appeal were Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Columbus, Youngstown, Struthers, Parma, Maple Heights, Toledo, Dayton.

Dipping Of Sleeve In Soup Nets Poke

CHICAGO (AP)—A dentist testified here yesterday that he merely reached for the salt at a restaurant counter when "this policeman slugged me."

Whereupon Judge John T. Zuris fined policeman Milton Brooks, $25 for assault on Dr. Eliot Small. But Brooks protested: "He reached across me for the salt and he dipped his sleeve in my soup. Must a man put up with that?"

Judge Zuris suspended the fine.

Talk About News Heard by BPW

Bloomington Girls Get January Honors

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club here today had a better conception of what a newspaper means to a free America and what it takes to make one for them day after day.

Gordon Kuster, Sr., director of color photography and color production supervisor for the Columbus Dispatch, the guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting at the Country Club Tuesday night, that it is "Your Right to Know," the subject of his talk.

He pointed out that it is "Your Right to Know" that it takes 5 cents to buy a bar of candy, a package of chewing gum and a newspaper and that the newspaper contains thousands of words of information and entertainment, with many graphic pictures in addition.

IN A GENERAL way, he said, the front page of the newspaper is more informative with what is known as "spot news" while the inside pages carry most of the feature, or entertaining, news along with other informative stories and factual reports of the day-by-day happenings.

He said reader-habit studies showed that most people look first to the front page and start reading at the upper right section of the page.

He also touched on the expense of operation and cost of equipment for a newspaper. He explained that both vary widely, all the way from $100,000 for equipment for a small newspaper up to millions of dollars for the biggest.

As newspaper readers, he said, it is "your right to know" these things.

SPECIAL music for the evening was provided by Mrs. Harford Hanks, Jr. Accompanied by Mrs. Don Schwaigert, Mrs. Hanks sang "Romance," "Summertime" and "Indian Love Call."

The two girls-of-the-month were introduced by Mrs. Rex Looker of the Education Committee. Both Bloomington High School students, they were Marilyn Heistand and Zana Cowdery. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Smith Mace, the club president. All reports were approved.

Mrs. Ureel Hays, the chairman of the Health and Safety Committee gave the slogan for the month: "If you want health, you must have health, so protect it."

MISS GRETCHEN Darlington, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee, said plans are being made for members of the club to visit the Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe in the near future. She also said the veterans had expressed their appreciation to the club for the gifts that had been sent to them at Christmas.

Mrs. Mace notified the members that a district director is to be elected in February and suggested that "if anyone wants to submit names of candidates from our club she may do so now."

Two guests at the meeting were Mrs. Hazel Devins and Miss Helen Skaggs.

The program for this meeting was arranged by the News Service Committee headed by Mrs. Fred Shoop. Other members of the committee Miss Norma Flee, Mrs. Mary Gillespie, Mrs. Wilbur Morgan, Miss Mildred Moss, Miss Lena Smith, Mrs. Lelia Smith, Miss Kathleen Stookey and Mrs. Madona Kimmey.

to both sides and cooperate in trying to ease the tension in that area. British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden is arriving here Monday for conferences with Eisenhower and the expectation is that the Middle East situation will be discussed.

Eisenhower said he sincerely believes that his request for authority to make long-term foreign aid commitments is in the best interests of the United States. He added that he is going to stand by that request as long as he feels he has a chance to get it through Congress.

Eisenhower also said he believes there has been some misunderstanding regarding that request in Congress, where such influential lawmakers as Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Senate GOP Leader Knowland (Calif.) have voiced opposition.

Talk About News Heard by BPW

Bloomington Girls Get January Honors

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club here today had a better conception of what a newspaper means to a free America and what it takes to make one for them day after day.

Gordon Kuster, Sr., director of color photography and color production supervisor for the Columbus Dispatch, the guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting at the Country Club Tuesday night, that it is "Your Right to Know," the subject of his talk.

He pointed out that it is "Your Right to Know" that it takes 5 cents to buy a bar of candy, a package of chewing gum and a newspaper and that the newspaper contains thousands of words of information and entertainment, with many graphic pictures in addition.

IN A GENERAL way, he said, the front page of the newspaper is more informative with what is known as "spot news" while the inside pages carry most of the feature, or entertaining, news along with other informative stories and factual reports of the day-by-day happenings.

He said reader-habit studies showed that most people look first to the front page and start reading at the upper right section of the page.

He also touched on the expense of operation and cost of equipment for a newspaper. He explained that both vary widely, all the way from $100,000 for equipment for a small newspaper up to millions of dollars for the biggest.

As newspaper readers, he said, it is "your right to know" these things.

SPECIAL music for the evening was provided by Mrs. Harford Hanks, Jr. Accompanied by Mrs. Don Schwaigert, Mrs. Hanks sang "Romance," "Summertime" and "Indian Love Call."

The two girls-of-the-month were introduced by Mrs. Rex Looker of the Education Committee. Both Bloomington High School students, they were Marilyn Heistand and Zana Cowdery.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Smith Mace, the club president. All reports were approved.

Mrs. Urcel Hays, the chairman of the Health and Safety Committee gave the slogan for the month: "If you want health, you must have health, so protect it."

MISS GRETCHEN Darlington, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee, said plans are being made for members of the club to visit the Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe in the near future. She also said the veterans had expressed their appreciation to the club for the gifts that had been sent to them at Christmas.

Mrs. Mace notified the members that a district director is to be elected in February and suggested that "if anyone wants to submit names of candidates from our club she may do so now."

Two guests at the meeting were Mrs. Hazel Devins and Miss Helen Skaggs.

The program for this meeting was arranged by the News Service Committee headed by Mrs. Fred Shoop. Other members of the committee Miss Norma Flee, Mrs. Mary Gillespie, Mrs. Wilbur Morgan, Miss Mildred Moss, Miss Lena Smith, Mrs. Lelia Smith, Miss Kathleen Stookey and Mrs. Madonna Kimmey.

to both sides and cooperate in trying to ease the tension in that area.

British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden is arriving here Monday for conferences with Eisenhower and the expectation is that the Middle East situation will be discussed.

Eisenhower said he sincerely believes that his request for authority to make long-term foreign aid commitments is in the best interests of the United States. He added that he is going to stand by that request as long as he feels he has a chance to get it through Congress.

Eisenhower also said he believes there has been some misunderstanding regarding that request in Congress, where such influential lawmakers as Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Senate GOP Leader Knowland (Calif) have voiced opposition.

Ohio Bell Rates

Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt and Judge William L. Hart did not participate in today's decision. The high court said the utilities commission used a proper method in determining rates. The cities had contended that the commission "abused its discretion" in refusing to adjust, for rate-making purposes, the company's income tax expense and earning needs.

Because of abuse of discretion, the cities contended, "The commission has imposed an additional burden of between $12,251,000 and $19,457,000 a year on Ohio customers."

In upholding the commission's method of determining rates, the court said the method consisted of determining:

"1. The reconstruction cost new, less actual observed depreciation statutory rate base.

"2. The fair annual rate of re-lamps No 1 and 2 pelts 91-100 lb 18.50-19.50; cull to choice slaughter sheep 5.00-7.50.

Budget Balanced; Maybe Reduction In Our Debt

It is doubtful whether most individuals of voting age really have fully considered the steady progress along many lines which has been made by the present national administration, in spite of the criticisms which have been made by various politicians largely offered for political purposes.

For the first time in a long period it appears that the budget is about to be balanced with reasonable assurance that, in addition, a small but still an important reduction will be made in the national debt.

This latter move could be offset if any further reduction at this time is forced by Congress in the tax rate. It is always easy to demand lower taxes and most everybody welcomes such a move. Therefore in this election year there will be a considerable clamor for a cut, particularly by some of the Democratic candidates, although others, such as Senator Byrd, prefer to see a start made in reducing the national debt.

One of the goals of every national government must be the balancing of its budget. No matter how much some economists may twist and squirm in their effort to prove that the unbalanced budget does not matter to nations, the fact remains that most business people and the folks back home know instinctively that it is a sign of stability when our budget is balanced.

This year, President Eisenhower has set two goals. He expects our budget to be in balance during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956. He will propose a balanced budget for the next fiscal year extending through June 30, 1957.

Our national debt today is in the vicinity of 280 billions. We have an obligation to cut this debt when prosperity makes such cuts possible. If business continues to boom at its present high levels, we perhaps could be able to reduce our outstanding indebtedness and to consider a tax cut at the same time.

In this connection President Eisenhower has offered the most cogent summary of what the present administration has been able to accomplish, in his message to Congress. It was not political oratory, but a simple statement of facts.

We are at peace. Our military strength is unparalleled in world history. Our national economy is reaching the 400 billion dollars a year level, an achievement which would have been regarded as inconceivable a few years ago. This income is distributed more widely than ever before. More than 62,000,000 men and women are working today.

In the past three years, we have cut government spending by more than 10 billion dollars. Some 300,000 federal positions have been eliminated. Taxes have been substantially cut. Social security coverage has been extended to 10 million more Americans. Civil rights have been substantially advanced.

This is a record of unprecedented achievement. It will be the big issue of the 1956 campaign. Will it be approved or rejected?

Refugee Sews Up Millions

NEW YORK (AP)—Leon Jolson is a refugee who became a millionaire by convincing even policemen that they could do home sewing.

His success is one of the most spectacular of any achieved by the hundreds of thousands of fugitives from totalitarian terror who have found a new life in America since World War II.

Jolson and his wife, Ann, came here in 1947. They were stateless, penniless and childless. On Jolson's left arm he bore the blue tattooed numerals symbolizing the three years he was imprisoned in Nazi concentration camps before he escaped and joined the Polish underground movement.

Today at 42 Jolson is an American citizen, has two children, and heads the 60 million-a-year Neechi and Elna sewing machine corporations.

But for a short time after his arrival he and his wife had to exist on a $90 a month check from a private relief organization while Jolson learned the English language.

Jolson had been a sewing machine company representative before the war in Poland. He investigated and was amazed to find how few American women did home sewing. He decided there was a big latent market here, and that he would go back into the only business he knew.

He felt that by importing an Italian model sewing machine that required less operating skill he could make a go of it. In 1948 he started his own business on $2,000 borrowed capital.

"The do-it-yourself movement was a great factor," Jolson said. "Home sewing used to be limited largely to women in the lower economic classes. Now it's going into high society."

"Many men have taken up sewing. We even have policemen who sew clothing for their children."

President's Difficult Decision

President Eisenhower's difficulty in deciding what his duty is and to whom it is, is not surprising. Had he been a party man like Harry Truman, he would have known that his duty was to his party. He would then have rationalized his situation to be that what is good for the Republican party is good for the United States and is therefore his duty.

But life has not been that simple for Eisenhower. First, he tried to be bi-partisan which did not work because that does not go in the United States. The he became a cardiac case which led to uncertainty as to whether he could run or not and that doubt has apparently not been resolved, as it never can with cardies who have to take their chances that whatever happens is for the best. There is nothing else they can do.

It was during the cardiac period in Denver that the regency formed consisting of Eisenhower's official and unofficial associates who undertook the management of the government, although Constitutionally that function should have gone to the Vice President, Richard Nixon. The regency did in a large measure to keep the show on the road and actually performed splendidly for Eisenhower—so that when he came back from Denver, he had no complaints to make. His position, had not been weakened by his illness. He was stronger than ever among the Republicans.

But the Democrats had taken account of the situation and had turned down the entire bi-partisan concept. Stevenson, Harriman, Truman are pitching into the Eisenhower administration with all that they have. Other Democrats are following suit. It had been Eisenhower policy to get along with the Democrats as well as with the Republicans. That is all over with now. He has to face a solid Democratic opposition, supported by the ADA for whatever that is worth.

In New York State, the Democrats give the appearance of feuding, but that is only because the ADA, a socialist group is fighting the regular Democratic organization and is losing. The other day Carmine De Sapio called the turn. The chairman of every county committee agreed to support Harriman. These are delegates; they have votes at the convention. Few, if any in the ADA list favoring Stevenson, will be delegates to the convention nor can they influence many candidates; therefore they do not count. It is easy in New York to get up a list of names for Stevenson, but not names of delegates.

The significance of the Stevenson effort is that in the early days of the Eisenhower administration, it was the White House hope that the Democrats would let 1956 pass. Whoever thought that possible was, without understanding of American politics and life. As a result, many unbelievable errors were made to placate the Democrats. Now, it is not only clear that the Democrats are going to fight Eisenhower but so far the leadership in that fight has been taken by Adlai Stevenson who represents a slightly modified ADA position. Eisenhower faces a frontal attack.

Also the Democrats are going to use every Congressional committee available to show corruption in the Eisenhower administration and I presume that some will be found that can be played up big, because among the millions of government employees there are always some who are corrupt. At any rate, it is going to be a fight.

Into this fetid air comes the personality of Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio who on a "Meet the Press" interview shocked the Washington correspondents by his blatant truthfulness. It had never happened before that any person in public life quite answered all questions as though the questioner had the right to ask them and the answer had an obligation to answer. Lausche who is a Democrat, once he is nominated for the presidency, can probably be elected because Taft Republicans will vote for him. But Lausche likes Eisenhower and would only become a menace to the Republican party if Eisenhower did not run.

With laryngitis, the best thing to do is to shut up—after you call your doctor.

Acute catarrhal laryngitis can be caused by any of a number of things. It is a fairly common symptom in influenza and measles and sometimes occurs in persons with pulmonary tuberculosis.

Over-use of your voice, perhaps in shouting, can also provoke an attack as can inhalation of hot or irritating vapors.

The chief complaints of an adult with this disease are an irritating cough, soreness in the larynx and either complete or partial loss of your voice. In most cases, the symptoms will run their course in one or two weeks.

Children, however, sometimes experience more dangers because of the comparative narrowness of the glottis or vocal apparatus. There is also a tendency toward a reflex spasm in children.

Awake Terrified

Symptoms seldom are alarming during the day, but the youngest may awake terrified at night because of difficulty in breathing. He will probably make loud crowing noises issuing when he inhales.

Keep the patient in bed and protected from drafts. Do not let him speak. Use a vaporizer of steam kettle to keep the room moist.

Penicillin frequently is helpful. Your doctor might advise that it be given by injection or by inhalation three times a day for three or four days.

Applying hot compresses to the front of the neck might help children with laryngitis.

There are several drugs such as apomorphine, chloral and potassium bromide which may help, but these drugs should be used only under the supervision of the doctor.

Set For East

Ohio Plant

NEW YORK (AP)—Initial construction is expected to start within 30 days on what Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. calls the world's first fully integrated aluminum plant. Coal to provide electric power will be mined close by the site—in eastern Monroe County, Ohio.

Company President Thomas S. Nichols said yesterday the plant will cost 90 million dollars. It will be financed through the company's own resources and a 60-million-dollar loan from Prudential Insurance Co.

A firm spokesman said site preparations are expected to start within 30 days. The site is four miles south of Clarington at Omal, across the Ohio River from Proctor, W. Va.

The spokesman said the plant will employ about 2,000 workers. Some 4,000 construction men will be needed to build it, he added.

A 30-million-dollar power plant will be built about 10 miles south of Moundsville, W. Va., to supply electricity needed to convert the alumina (aluminum oxide) into pig aluminum.

The Olin Mathieson spokesman said he had no information on starting dates or number of employees for the power plant.

The generating station, consisting of two units of 225,000 kilowatts each and with a potential capacity of 1,350,000 kilowatts, will be financed by a Prudential loan to a power subsidiary corporation. Olin Mathieson said it will have an interest in this corporation.

Hamilton Solon's Claimed Studied By Governor Lausche

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche says he is looking into a state senator's accusation that a 30 million dollar bond issue for public buildings cannot be used to finance some roads at state universities.

The governor indicated he will hold up approval of at least one of the four acts passed at last week's special legislative session.

The act to which he referred authorized the bond issue and appropriated $14,898,000 from its funds for six state universities. Roads, landscaping and parking lots were items included in the school improvements.

State Sen. Fred Hoffman (R-Hamilton) argued that some roads for which the money was appropriated come under the classification of highways, and that the bond issue law prohibits money for such use.

Budget Balanced; Maybe Reduction In Our Debt

It is doubtful whether most individuals of voting age really have fully considered the steady progress along many lines which has been made by the present national administration, in spite of the criticisms which have been made by various politicians largely offered for political purposes.

For the first time in a long period it appears that the budget is about to be balanced with reasonable assurance that, in addition, a small but still an important reduction will be made in the national debt.

This latter move could be offset if any further reduction at this time is forced by Congress in the tax rate. It is always easy to demand lower taxes and most everybody welcomes such a move. Therefore in this election year there will be a considerable clamor for a cut, particularly by some of the Democratic candidates, although others, such as Senator Byrd, prefer to see a start made in reducing the national debt.

One of the goals of every national government must be the balancing of its budget. No matter how much some economists may twist and squirm in their effort to prove that the unbalanced budget does not matter to nations, the fact remains that most business people and the folks back home know instinctively that it is a sign of stability when our budget is balanced.

This year, President Eisenhower has set two goals. He expects our budget to be in balance during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956. He will propose a balanced budget for the next fiscal year extending through June 30, 1957.

Our national debt today is in the vicinity of 280 billions. We have an obligation to cut this debt when prosperity makes such cuts possible. If business continues to boom at its present high levels, we perhaps could be able to reduce our outstanding indebtedness and to consider a tax cut at the same time.

Rotary Hears U. S. Outlook Is Encouraging

Public Relations Man Is Speaker At Tuesday Meet

An encouraging outlook for 1956 and the next several future years in the economic situation of this country, with many facts and figures in reliable data to substantiate this view, proved the highlights of an interesting and entertaining talk by Frank Kovac, of Cleveland, associate director of public relations in the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, at the Washington Rotary Club's luncheon Tuesday at the Country Club.

Introduced by Marilyn Riley, a district official of this company, Kovac who has an engaging personality and commands an endless line of clever stories to illustrate points in his talks, presented a series of well supported facts, which appeared to indicate that this country, unless it suddenly plunges out of balance, unexpectedly and without good reason, had excellent grounds for assuming there will be an optimistic future, if people continue to work with normal diligences and push forward industrially.

AMONG statements by Kovac was that the 1955 high level of business activity was mostly attributable to the reinforcing factors of high construction activity, record automobile sales, and heavy expenditures for consumer durable goods. The year was characterized by the strength in consumer expenditures and the expanded use of credit as a merchandizing tool, he said.

"The year 1956 looks like it may be cloudy — but without storms," Kovac said, "and extremely windy because it will be an election year."

More importantly the longer range picture seems to view the future with optimism. "Favorable factors here," Kovac stated, "appear to be the increased levels of income that will be available to families in the future." More and more families will reach upgraded incomes of $4,000 dollars per year and more. This will provide the necessary means for supporting higher levels of sales volume in many lines of consumer items, he declared.

Industry presently is laying plans ahead three to 10 years down the road. Heavy capital expenditures by industry are viewed as one of the strong points favoring good business for 1956.

HOWEVER, the real key to continuing future prosperity, Kovac said, is the greater role that research and development will play. There is a relationship emerging between the amount of dollars spent in this activity and the total of future investment opportunity.

The number of such opportunities will greatly influence the number of jobs that will be available to our increased population of the future.

There will be ups and downs—we should not expect a continuous boom—Kovac asserted, but in the past year the significance of population, family formations, income upgrading, and increased expenditures on research and development, have come of age. These factors have become an essential part in the planning of business and government for the future.

They are new because they add to the cumulative knowledge of what makes America tick; but they are new mostly in emphasis. The trend in the next 10 years will depend not only on the birth rate in our population, but also on the birth rate of new ideas generated in the laboratories of American industry, agriculture and business.

Our children have a tremendous future awaiting them—if we

County Mothers March Workers Are Listed

The Mothers March on Polio, slated for Thursday evening, is now set up and all but ready to roll.

Workers in both the city and county were preparing for the big ten-day drive which is expected to be the biggest single money-raiser for the county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Mrs. C. E. Rhoad, chairman of the Mothers March in the rural areas of the county, announced that icy roads had slowed recruitment of workers in the county, but said the drive would start as scheduled in most parts of the county.

One major exception will be Jeffersonville, where the door-to-door canvass has been postponed until Friday and Saturday. Elsewhere, worker lists were nearly complete, but Mrs. Rhoad warned that the same icy weather that had slowed recruitment of workers might also slow down collections.

"IF ANYONE who wants to give has not been contacted by the end of the week, he should call 4-5774," Mrs. Rhoad suggested. "A worker will call to pick up the donation."

Worker lists for the city's residential districts were announced Saturday by Mrs. Herbert Solars, city chairman of the Mothers March.

The list of workers in the county have the courage to set the proper direction today.

When Kovac completed his talk, President Dougherty thanked him warmly for coming to the club and presenting his views. Dougherty expressed pleasure that a timely talk of this nature was available at the start of this new year.

PREVIOUS to the regular program President Dougherty told the story of the misfortunes of Carl Johnson, the local blind boy who, while making efforts to take care of himself without asking for financial help, had suffered illness which had created a heavy hospital bill of several hundred dollars. He stated that various individuals and organizations had undertaken a plan to finance this bill and asked for a collection among Rotarians. This was done with the result that $75 was given immediately toward the fund to aid Johnson.

Birthday greetings were sung for W. P. Noble, Rev. Harold Braden, Dr. Robert Woodmansee, Walter H. Seifried and Dr. Francis M. Haines, each of whom made the usual contribution to the club's youth fund.

The newest member of the club, George D. Kratz, owner and manager of the Buck Greenhouses, was officially presented by his sponsor, Atty. Edmond Woodmansee. He was also officially welcomed by President Dougherty and was given the club pin, plaque and literature which all new members receive.

ATTENTION WAS called to next week's regular program speaker by Chairman Ralph Penn of the January program committee, who announced that Prof. L. H. Barnes, a specialist in farm management and a professor in the department of agricultural economics and rural sociology at Ohio State University, was scheduled for an address.

The Rotary Ann dinner meeting on February 8, again was brought up for attention with President Dougherty making the statement that the evening's program promised to be "out of this world" in interest.

Visiting Rotarians at the Tuesday meeting were Ed. Milsom of Lancaster and William McCoy of Wilmington. Other guests were William Smith, who came with his father, Supt. W. A. Smith; Howard Mace with Marilyn Riley and Dave Ogan with Carroll Halliday.

Student guests from Washington High School were Robert English and Herbert Coil, the latter making a response to their introduction in a brief "thank you" talk.

Rotary Hears U. S. Outlook Is Encouraging

Public Relations Man Is Speaker At Tuesday Meet

An encouraging outlook for 1956 and the next several future years in the economic situation of this country, with many facts and figures in reliable data to substantiate this view, proved the highlights of an interesting and entertaining talk by Frank Kovac, of Cleveland, associate director of public relations in the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, at the Washington Rotary Club's luncheon Tuesday at the Country Club.

Introduced by Marilyn Riley, a district official of this company, Kovac who has an engaging personality and commands an endless line of clever stories to illustrate points in his talks, presented a series of well supported facts, which appeared to indicate that this country, unless it suddenly plunges out of balance, unexpectedly and without good reason, had excellent grounds for assuming there will be an optimistic future, if people continue to work with normal diligences and push forward industrially.

AMONG statements by Kovac was that the 1955 high level of business activity was mostly attributable to the reinforcing factors of high construction activity, record automobile sales, and heavy expenditures for consumer durable goods. The year was characterized by the strength in consumer expenditures and the expanded use of credit as a merchandizing tool, he said.

"The year 1956 looks like it may be cloudy — but without storms," Kovac said, "and extremely windy because it will be an election year."

More importantly the longer range picture seems to view the future with optimism. "Favorable factors here," Kovac stated, "appear to be the increased levels of income that will be available to families in the future." More and more families will reach upgraded incomes of $4,000 dollars per year and more. This will provide the necessary means for supporting higher levels of sales volume in many lines of consumer items, he declared.

Industry presently is laying plans ahead three to 10 years down the road. Heavy capital expenditures by industry are viewed as one of the strong points favoring good business for 1956.

HOWEVER, the real key to continuing future prosperity, Kovac said, is the greater role that research and development will play. There is a relationship emerging between the amount of dollars spent in this activity and the total of future investment opportunity.

The number of such opportunities will greatly influence the number of jobs that will be available to our increased population of the future.

There will be ups and downs—we should not expect a continuous boom—Kovac asserted, but in the past year the significance of population, family formations, income upgrading, and increased expenditures on research and development, have come of age. These factors have become an essential part in the planning of business and government for the future.

They are new because they add to the cumulative knowledge of what makes America tick; but they are new mostly in emphasis. The trend in the next 10 years will depend not only on the birth rate in our population, but also on the birth rate of new ideas generated in the laboratories of American industry, agriculture and business.

County Mothers March Workers Are Listed

The Mothers March on Polio, slated for Thursday evening, is now set up and all ready to roll.

Workers in both the city and county were preparing for the big ten-day drive which is expected to be the biggest single money-raiser for the county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Mrs. C. E. Rhoad, chairman of the Mothers March in the rural areas of the county, announced that icy roads had slowed recruitment of workers in the county, but said the drive would start as scheduled in most parts of the county.

One major exception will be Jeffersonville, where the door-to-door canvass has been postponed until Friday and Saturday. Elsewhere, worker lists were nearly complete, but Mrs. Rhoad warned that the same icy weather that had slowed recruitment of workers might also slow down collections.

"IF ANYONE who wants to give has not been contacted by the end of the week, he should call 4-5774," Mrs. Rhoad suggested. "A worker will call to pick up the donation."

Worker lists for the city's residential districts were announced Saturday by Mrs. Herbert Solars, city chairman of the Mothers March.

The list of workers in the county have the courage to set the proper direction today.

When Kovac completed his talk, President Dougherty thanked him warmly for coming to the club and presenting his views. Dougherty expressed pleasure that a timely talk of this nature was available at the start of this new year.

PREVIOUS to the regular program President Dougherty told the story of the misfortunes of Carl Johnson, the local blind boy who, while making efforts to take care of himself without asking for financial help, had suffered illness which had created a heavy hospital bill of several hundred dollars. He stated that various individuals and organizations had undertaken a plan to finance this bill and asked for a collection among Rotarians. This was done with the result that $75 was given immediately toward the fund to aid Johnson.

Birthday greetings were sung for W. P. Noble, Rev. Harold Braden, Dr. Robert Woodmansee, Walter H. Seifried and Dr. Francis M. Haines, each of whom made the usual contribution to the club's youth fund.

The newest member of the club, George D. Kratz, owner and manager of the Buck Greenhouses, was officially presented by his sponsor, Atty. Edmond Woodmansee. He was also officially welcomed by President Dougherty and was given the club pin, plaque and literature which all new members receive.

ATTENTION WAS called to next week's regular program speaker by Chairman Ralph Penn of the January program committee, who announced that Prof. Lyl H. Barnes, a specialist in farm management and a professor in the department of agricultural economics and rural sociology at Ohio State University, was scheduled for an address.

The Rotary Ann dinner meeting on February 8, again was brought up for attention with President Dougherty making the statement that the evening's program promised to be "out of this world" in interest.

Visiting Rotarians at the Tuesday meeting were Ed. Milson of Lancaster and William McCoy of Wilmington. Other guests were William Smith, who came with his father, Supt. W. A. Smith; Howard Mace with Marilyn Riley and Dave Ogan with Carroll Hallday.

Student guests from Washington High School were Robert English and Herbert Coil, the latter making a response to their introduction in a brief "thank you" talk.

The scenes were shown at Kingdon Hall here by Howard M. Snyder. He and Mrs. Snyder were among the 5,000 delegates who visited England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark and Sweden. Among the pictures were some of the Witnesses at the German Assembly at Nuremberg and Berlin, which were attended, he said, by 125,000.

QUICK FREEZING IS BEST

There's no better way of preserving the original goodness and flavor of fresh foods than by quick-freezing. Men of science tell us that the miracle of quick-freezing is the most modern and effective way of retaining Nature's freshness in foods of all kinds.

Experts agree that to get the best results from frozen foods, all foods must be quick-frozen first at sub-zero temperatures. This is necessary to prevent breaking down the delicate cell structures and causing loss of flavor and freshness.

Play safe with your foods... bring them to our modern plant for proper freezing, before you store them in your home freezer. We have facilities for freezing large quantities of food overnight. Stop in next time you get a chance, and we'll show you how we work with other folks who have home freezers.

'Unfriendly Churches' Hit By Ohio Pastors Resolution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 2,300 men of God attending the 37th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention have offered a formal apology for what they call "unfriendly churches."

"We are heartily sorry that our churches are too often aloof and unfriendly, that they are too often segregated as to race or quite completely dominated by a class, unusually economic in character."

This was the substance of one of four resolutions passed by the group Tuesday. The four-day meeting concludes Thursday.

In another resolution, delegates took "with utmost seriousness the obvious failure of our churches to reach effectively into the lives of many of our nation's children and youth."

On Evangelism, the ministers agreed it "must begin in ourselves."

They called human relations "one of the great problems" of mankind and asserted "that the various races and nations of the earth have a common ancestry and that ancestry is God..."

At a fellowship dinner last night, attended by Gov. Frank J. Lausche, the presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the U. S. followed through on the race relations theme.

"We ought, all of us, to have the common sense to know we are all on one side," said Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill.

The National Council of Churches, of which Bishop Sherrill is a past president, looks forward "to the time when the Missouri Synod Lutherans and the Southern Baptist Convention become members of our fellowship," he said.

"Some of us," he added, "also look forward to the time when the great Roman Catholic Church will be willing to join with us in conference and discussion."

Bishop Sherrill asserted that

He added, "there is no desire to form a super-church...the councils (world and national) are in no sense mergers of churches but independent churches working together."

Gov. Lausche warned of the danger of church leadership setting bad examples for youth. But he said he found "confidence and consolation" in the knowledge "there are no better soldiers than pastors serving our nation."

Fish and Game Association Here Is Incorporated Under State Law

The Fayette County Fish and Game Association today was the solidest foundation the organization has had in its nearly half a century of in-and-out history.

It is now a non-profit corporation and holds a charter granted by the state. It was issued by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Listed as the trustees were Richard P. Rankin, an attorney; Willard Holdren, the president of the association, and David R. Roe, a jeweler.

The Fayette County Fish and Game Association is older than many of the members of today's association.

The Fayette County Fish and Game Association was at one time — 25 or 30 years ago — considered the biggest organization of the kind in the state. Older men among the sportsmen still talk about the annual banquets that brought out as many as 1,500 people, many of whom had never fired a gun in the field or cast bait in a stream.

Some of the biggest of these were held in what was known far and wide as the "Sales Barn," which is now part of the Cudahy Packing Co. plant on Dayton Avenue.

The membership roll of the association in those years ran well over a thousand. The late Frank Blessing was one of the moving spirits and the president of the association for several years.

But, like many organizations, the Fayette County Fish and Game Association has had its ups and downs through the years; so, while the present Fayette County Fish and Game Association has all the aspects of a completely new organization, its immediate past president, Frank Boylan, considered it more of a direct descendant of the original organization — another revival with a more modern approach and firm foundation.

THE REVIVAL, as Boylan regards the origin of the present association, came two years ago. Walter P. Thompson was the first president. The next year, Boylan was at the helm and two weeks ago, Willard Holdren was elected to the presidency for the coming year.

Machinery for the incorporation of the association as a non-profit corporation was set up last year during Boylan's administration, but a series of complications developed and the application for the charter was not made until the last meeting.

While the association has held monthly regular meetings at which sports of stream and field were discussed and motion pictures of outdoor sports shown during the coffee and doughnut session after adjournment, it also followed through vigorously on several projects.

The first year, the association backed a stream - dredging program. That summer was unusually dry, but the pools created by scooping out stretches of stream beds were filled up by the springs the dredging uncovered and thousands of fish were saved.

The last report to the association said the dredged - out pools were still in the streams, ready to serve the purpose for which they were intended.

Last year there were two major projects: (1) a campaign against stream pollution and (2) a headquarters in the country, complete with club house.

The campaign against stream pollution was concentrated largely on Paint Creek that runs through Washington C. H. and, with the city and the association cooperating closely to reach a common goal, association officers said progress had been made toward cleaning up the stream. However, neither the city nor the association has claimed that the situation had been cleared up completely; both have expressed the feeling that elimination of pollution will take time.

But Boylan, as he retired from the presidency, summed up the situation when he said: "Anyway, we have made a start." He added that he had confidence that the city would continue its efforts along this line.

The headquarters — a 10-acre tract along Rattlesnake Creek near Buena Vista probably will be put under lease by the association at its next meeting. Plans call for rifle, shotgun and bow and arrow ranges, a picnic area, fishing facilities in the creek and a club house.

With the organization now a state-chartered corporation, both members and officers have expressed confidence that the association is now on a sound and permanent foundation.

A membership campaign may be launched in the near future, it has been indicated.

Program Of School Building Recommended At Conference

In answering the question "What Are Our School Building Needs?" a sub-committee named to study problems recommended, among other things, that "states should establish minimum building standards for health and safety in terms of goals to be achieved rather than means of attaining them" in its report to the White House conference on Education that was held in Washington D. C., last November.

The report by this committee was one of six made at the conference by the study groups.

The full reports have now been made available for publication here by Edwin Buck, who was one of the Ohio delegation.

The third report in the series of six follows:

It appears that under present plans only two or three States have been quoted as stating that they can meet their building needs for the next five years.

We have taken the question exactly as stated. Under the present plans and time limitations stipulated, it seems to be virtually impossible for most of the States to meet school building needs.

The general consensus was this: No State represented has a demonstrated financial incapacity to build the schools it will need during the next five years. But, with the exception of a few States, none of the States presently has plans which indicate a political determination powerful enough to overcome all of the obstacles.

Some territories and a few States may need outside financial assistance. Obstacles in way of meeting building needs:

1. School building codes are frequently obsolete. They should be revised at intervals of not more than five years to make full use of newer building materials and methods.
2. Lack of cooperative effort in reorganization to assure efficient administration.
3. Lack of foresight in long-term planning for future needs.
4. Construction industry not rapid enough to take care of needs because of shortages in materials, labor, and professional services.
5. State institutional laws limiting bonding capacity.
6. Failure of State laws to equalize tax values.
7. Mobility of population; increase in birth rate; influx of new population.
8. Lack of understanding of school building needs on part of the public.

THE BEAUTIFUL SNOW

Beautiful snow it was to me
In my youthful days and more;
But now I like to see it fall
But not as I did of yore;
Then I would wade through deepest drifts—

Like feel of snow on my face;
Now I like to look out on it
From inside in a warm place;
Then it brought out the sled and sleighs;

Laughter with sleigh bells mingled;
Now you hear the snow shovel sound,
By auto horns are signaled;
Beautiful snow, beautiful snow—
Will it someday also go
With horse, sleigh and old fashioned things?

I hope that will not be so.

Basic and Desirable Facilities:

1. The basic facilities for every satisfactory school building should include housing for all functional services required to carry on the kinds of educational programs anticipated in the report on the first topic.

2. First claim on resources for development of school facilities to meet this emergency should be given to the basic educational needs of youth.

3. Design should be the joint efforts of lay or professional groups and individuals, including architects, engineers, community planners, teachers, pupils, administrators and other citizens.

Desirable, but not mandatory, facilities should include special service rooms, library and visual aid facilities.

5. Basic facilities for secondary schools: Adequate site, general classrooms, special classrooms for science, art, homemaking, music, industrial arts, and for vocational education, boys' and girls' physical education, offices, library and textbook rooms, cafeteria, auditorium, health unit, teachers' lounge, locker facilities for students. Desirable, but not mandatory: Swimming pool, visual aid facilities. It is the consensus that the buildings can be more effectively used for school and community purposes:

1. The possible use of buildings for the entire twelve months by children and adults should be explored for educational, civic, and recreational purposes.
2. Buildings should be open for adult evening classes, recreation, and general civic and community

7. Mobility of population; increase in birth rate; influx of new population.

8. Lack of understanding of school building needs on part of the public.

9. Building plans in relation to cost and design not acceptable to community.

10. Community lacks financial ability to support minimum construction needs.

11. Community resists additional taxation.

12. Community resists consolidation of districts and attendant building needs.

13. Loss of tax revenue due to use of land and facilities by the State and Federal agencies.

14. Almost complete dependence on property tax.

15. Tax exemptions and preferential tax treatment to attract industry.

16. High interest rate and bad credit risks.

17. Representatives from Washington, D. C., stated that Federal legislation would be necessary in order for them to construct the buildings they will need in the next five years. In addition to that, the basic problem here seems to be a lack of fiscal independence which is to be noted in quite a number of municipalities across the country.

Suggested solution to obstacles:

1. Presentation graphically of accurate factual data to the public in the hope that an intelligent electorate will meet the problem on a local and State level.

2. More realistic bonded indebtedness.

3. Equalized tax valuation on statewide basis.

4. State Planning Commission for public buildings which would study needs of impoverished districts.

5. Continuation of Federal aid to impacted areas.

6. Better advance planning for new areas.

7. Some feel that State assistance to distressed districts for capital outlay should be studied.

8. It was the feeling of the group that Federal land properties are not bearing their fair share of taxes.

9. There was a feeling that the Federal Government should reimburse the States in lieu of taxes.

The following recommendations are made in regard to State and Federal Control:

1. States should establish minimum building standards for health and safety in terms of goals to be achieved rather than the means of attaining them. Wherever States contribute building funds, its educational agency should give prior approval to plans and specifications to insure compliance with these standards.

2. States should pursue research, and provide leadership through consulting services, for school districts on building construction, with special emphasis on new building materials and techniques.

3. The Federal Government should have no control whatsoever over school building plans and specifications.

4. Some thought, however, that the U. S. Office of Education should engage in research in all areas of school building materials and construction and make results available to schools.

5. Some thought that wherever the Federal Government allocates money to impacted areas, any regulation should be exercised through existing State agencies if such exist in the States.

Basic and Desirable Facilities:

1. The basic facilities for every satisfactory school building should include housing for all functional services required to carry on the kinds of educational programs anticipated in the report on the first topic.

2. First claim on resources for development of school facilities to meet this emergency should be given to the basic educational needs of youth.

3. Design should be the joint efforts of lay or professional groups and individuals, including architects, engineers, community planners, teachers, pupils, administrators and other citizens.

4. Some felt that this report should also be particularized. Basic facilities for an elementary school: Adequate site, classrooms including kindergarten, office facilities, space for assembly and cafeteria activities or multi-purpose room, physical education and playground facilities, equipment health unit, teachers' room, service and sanitary facilities, toilet rooms, custodial and storage rooms. Desirable, but not mandatory, facilities should include special service rooms, library and visual aid facilities.

5. Basic facilities for secondary schools: Adequate site, general classrooms, special classrooms for science, art, homemaking, music, industrial arts, and for vocational education, boys' and girls' physical education, offices, library and textbook rooms, cafeteria, auditorium, health unit, teachers' lounge, locker facilities for students. Desirable, but not mandatory: Swimming pool, visual aid facilities.

It is the consensus that the buildings can be more effectively used for school and community purposes:

1. The possible use of buildings for the entire twelve months by children and adults should be explored for educational, civic, and recreational purposes.

2. Buildings should be open for adult evening classes, recreation, and general civic and community purposes with school purposes having high priority. Proper supervisory control over use should be exercised so as to cause no interference with school operation. There should be supervision and budget provision for this extra use.

3. Some felt that activities should include use of buildings during school hours on holidays and week-ends.

4. Double shift use of a school building is highly undesirable. It may have to be tolerated in an emergency situation, but is no substitute for an adequate building program.

5. On the question of extending the school-day or school-year use of buildings: some recommended a study; some were instructed to omit the topic; and some recommended caution in considering such proposals.

6. Present crowded conditions in the schools should not be accepted as permanent standards.

7. Remodeling of school buildings, where a more adequate plant would result, should be carefully considered.

Other points discussed were as follows:

1. While recognizing the tremendous shortage of classrooms, we also feel that problems will not be solved until enough classrooms are available to make it possible to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio which will provide a more ideal teaching situation.

2. Legislation to insure that new housing developments shall be required to provide space for school buildings.

3. Sites should be selected on a long-range planning basis.

4. There is a need for free interchange of information between public school and non-public school authorities with reference to school purposes with school purposes having high priority. Proper supervisory control over use should be exercised so as to cause no interference with school operation. There should be supervision and budget provision for this extra use.

3. Some felt that activities should include use of buildings during school hours on holidays and week-ends.

Today, March of Dimes funds which developed and tested the vaccine are financing research to improve it. But there still are polio victims who need help. And there will be tens of thousands more stricken before the nation has its blanket of protection. March of Dimes plus the hearts and hands of polio fighters everywhere must continue to provide our main bulwark against polio.

Wilmington Cagers Lose by One Point

The Wilmington Hurricane, that appeared to be almost invincible early in the season and a cinch to repeat as the SCO League champion, suffered its third defeat in 11 games Tuesday night when the boys from Franklin High School nosed them out 70 to 69.

Hot Bulldog Win 52 to 47

Beat Mt. Sterling In Consistent Game

The Bloomingburg Bulldogs, who have had trouble all season staying warm through the game, stayed consistent Tuesday night and topped the Mt. Sterling five, 52 to 47, in spite of temperature problems.

The temperature troubles were real and physical — the Bloomingburg High School has been having furnace difficulties. Rather than freeze the valuable basketball players in an unheated gym while repairs were being made, the Bulldogs had a layoff from practice.

But boys and the Bloomingburg gym were warm Tuesday night.

Hottest boy on the Bloomingburg club was Garry McConaughy, who dropped in 5 field goals and 4 foul shots for a total of 14 points.

Stewart of Mt. Sterling flipped 15 points worth, 7 field goals and one foul shot.

THE BLOOMINGBURG lads were accurate at the foul line, too, pushing in 14 out of 22 foul shots. Mt. Sterling dropped in only 5 out of 14 foul shots.

The Bulldogs took off in front at the start of the game, topping Mt. Sterling 19 to 16 at the end of the first quarter and stayed in front to the end.

This gives the Bulldogs a record of 6 wins and 8 losses in season play.

In the Reserve game, the Bloomingburg team edged the Mt. Sterling boys, 37 to 33. In the game for Bloomingburg and their total points scored were: Riley 5, McArthur 4, D. Hidy 11, Hixson 3, Anderson 5, Chatten 7 and Snyder 2.

This gives the Reserve Bulldogs a total for the season of 10 wins and 4 losses.

and tougher by the week, lost to Chillicothe's always good Cavaliers—but by a margin of only 5 points, 57 to 52.

The Tigers now have a season record of 6 wins and 4 losses. After losing their first two SCO League games, to the Lions of WHS 54-43 and to Greenfield's Tigers 57-51, the Tigers came back to beat Hillsboro's Indians, 60-40, and then upset the previously unbeaten (in the league) Wilmington outfit, 73 to 68.

The Hurricane, which has lost only to the Circlevillians, tangles with the Tigers in a return game Friday on the Wilmington floor. This could well be the game that decides the SCO championship. Although the Greenfield and Hillsboro teams appear to be out of the running for the crown, the Lions of Washington C. H. are still very much in it, making a three-way scramble with the Hurricane in front with 4 wins and 1 loss, the Lions second with 3 wins and 1 loss and the Circleville Tigers third with 2 wins and 2 losses.

If the Tigers stop the Hurricane again, the Lions will rise to the top of the heap although they will be sitting idly by on the sidelines.

The Lions don't have a game scheduled until Feb. 3 when they are to go to Circleville to tangle with the improving Tigers. They beat the Circleville boys 54-43 when they played here Dec. 16.

There is always a chance that the Lions will get in a game before they meet the Tigers. Their game with Hillsboro's Indians was postponed last Friday because of snow-clogged roads and it is possible that it could be played between now and Feb. 3.

Wayne Beaten By Chillicothe

Catholic's Quintet Scores 97-64 Win

Chillicothe Catholic's cagers moved in on Good Hope Tuesday night and left the Fayette County boys on the short end of a 97-64 score.

"Just too big," was the way Good Hope's coach, Alexander More, summed up the Chillicothe team. Three of the Ross County invaders were 6-3, while Good Hope's tallest player is half an inch shy of 5-11.

The Chillicothe boys pretty much controlled the backboards—and the buckets too—with their height. Using a switch on the double pivot strategy, the visiting team usually managed to have two or three boys cutting under the basket when they were moving in to score.

If the Chillicothe team had a fault, it was fouling. And the Mad Antonies were quick to take advantage of it. Referees called a total of 38 fouls on Chillicothe. Of the 32 foul shots the Wayne boys took, they made good on 36 for 69 percent.

Three Chillicothe players fouled out, Folk, Bruce and Bonner. Turner went out of the Good Hope lineup on fouls, too.

Ron Linton was high scorer for Good Hope and for the game, with 28 points. Taylor was runner-up for the losers, with 21. Reed was high for Chillicothe with 24, but nine other boys scored as well.

Good Hope dropped the reserve game, 50-30. Kimball and Smith, with 6 apiece, were top scorers for the losers. Other Wayne boys in the lineup and their scoring: Butcher (5), Bonecutter (4), Strouth (4), Overly (3), Van Dyke (1), Garlinger (1) and Osborne, Brown and Jenkins.

Olympic Stadium Awes Americans

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy —The American figure skating team is awed by the dressing rooms in the $24 million Olympic ice stadium.

"It outdoes Hollywood," said one.

Each skater has a private dressing room with carpeted floor and private shower. Marble stairs lead to the dressing rooms.

After competition begins, an attendant will hand each skater a hot beverage when he or she leaves the ice.

That's typical of the arrangements at this best-prepared Olympics in history. Everyone agrees Italy can take a bow.

Pettit Is Star In All-Star Tilt

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks was an all-star among all-stars last night, scoring 20 points to lead the West to a 108-94 victory over the East in the 65th annual National Basketball Assn. "dream" game.

Pettit's performance won him the game's most valuable player trophy. His 11 points in the West's 41-point third quarter sparked his team to its triumph.

For a while, it looked as though the East, led by Neil Johnston of Philadelphia, would have things its own way. Trailing 19-5, the West caught fire and caught up 32-32 in the second period. Then Pettit found the range.

Wilmington Cagers Lose by One Point

The Wilmington Hurricane, that appeared to be almost invincible early in the season and a cinch to repeat as the SCO League champion, suffered its third defeat in 11 games Tuesday night when the boys from Franklin High School nosed them out 70 to 69.

The only other SCO team in action Tuesday night went down to defeat, too. Circleville's Tigers, who have been getting stronger

Hot Bulldog Win 52 to 47

Beat Mt. Sterling In Consistent Game

The Bloomingburg Bulldogs, who have had trouble all season staying warm through the game, stayed consistent Tuesday night and topped the Mt. Sterling five, 52 to 47, in spite of temperature problems.

The temperature troubles were real and physical — the Bloomingburg High School has been having furnace difficulties. Rather than freeze the valuable basketball players in an unheated gym while repairs were being made, the Bulldogs had a layoff from practice.

But boys and the Bloomingburg gym were warm Tuesday night.

Hottest boy on the Bloomingburg club was Garry McConaughy, who dropped in 5 field goals and 4 foul shots for a total of 14 points. Stewart of Mt. Sterling flipped 15 points worth, 7 field goals and one foul shot.

THE BLOOMINGBURG lads were accurate at the foul line, too, pushing in 14 out of 22 foul shots. Mt. Sterling dropped in only 5 out of 14 foul shots.

The Bulldogs took off in front at the start of the game, topping Mt. Sterling 19 to 16 at the end of the first quarter and stayed in front to the end.

This gives the Bulldogs a record of 6 wins and 8 losses in season play.

In the Reserve game, the Bloomingburg team edged the Mt. Sterling boys, 37 to 33. In the game for Bloomingburg and their total points scored were: Riley 5, McArthur 4, D. Hidy 11, Hixson 3, Anderson 5, Chatten 7 and Snyder 2.

This gives the Reserve Bulldogs a total for the season of 10 wins and 4 losses.

Wayne Beaten By Chillicothe

Catholic's Quintet Scores 97-64 Win

Chillicothe Catholic's cagers moved in on Good Hope Tuesday night and left the Fayette County boys on the short end of a 97-64 score.

"Just too big," was the way Good Hope's coach, Alexander More, summed up the Chillicothe team. Three of the Ross County invaders were 6-3, while Good Hope's tallest player is half an inch shy of 5-11.

The Chillicothe boys pretty much controlled the backboards — and the buckets too — with their height. Using a switch on the double pivot strategy, the visiting team usually managed to have two or three boys cutting under the basket when they were moving in to score.

If the Chillicothe team had a fault, it was fouling. And the Mad Antonies were quick to take advantage of it. Referees called a total of 38 fouls on Chillicothe. Of the 52 foul shots the Wayne boys took, they made good on 36 for 69 percent.

Three Chillicothe players fouled out, Folk, Bruce and Bonner. Turner went out of the Good Hope lineup on fouls, too.

Ron Linton was high scorer for Good Hope and for the game, with 28 points. Taylor was runner-up for the losers, with 21. Reed was high for Chillicothe with 24, but nine other boys scored as well.

Good Hope dropped the reserve game, 50-30. Kimball and Smith, with 6 apiece, were top scorers for the losers. Other Wayne boys in the lineup and their scoring: Butcher (5), Bonecutter (4), Strouth (4), Overly (3), Van Dyke (1), Gar-ringer (1) and Osborne, Brown and Jenkins.

Olympic Stadium Awes Americans

CORTINA d'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) —The American figure skating team is awed by the dressing rooms in the $2¼ million Olympic ice stadium.

"It outdoes Hollywood," said one.

Each skater has a private dressing room with carpeted floor and private shower. Marble stairs lead to the dressing rooms.

After competition begins, an attendant will hand each skater a hot beverage when he or she leaves the ice.

That's typical of the arrangements at this best-prepared Olympics in history. Everyone agrees Italy can take a bow.

Purdue's Bob Kheonle led the Big Ten in pass receiving last season with 17 catches for 154 yards.

Pettit Is Star In All-Star Tilt

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks was an all-star among all-stars last night, scoring 20 points to lead the West to a 108-94 victory over the East in the 65th annual National Basketball Assn. "dream" game.

Pettit's performance won him the game's most valuable player trophy. His 11 points in the West's 41-point third quarter sparked his team to its triumph.

For a while, it looked as though the East, led by Neil Johnston of Philadelphia, would have things its own way. Trailing 19-5, the West caught fire and caught up 32-32 in the second period. Then Pettit found the range.

Captain Injured In Leap From Disabled Jet

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Air Force Capt. Richard O. Ramsbottom, 34, of Enon, jumped out of his moving jet plane in a crash-landing at Wright-Patterson AFB near here yesterday and survived to tell the tale.

Ramsbottom, a test pilot for Wright Air Development Center, was ferrying in his new F101 Voodoo—described as the world's fastest jet fighter—from a factory in St. Louis.

As he attempted to set the plane down, with one engine conked out, the craft veered off the runway and crashed when the landing gear collapsed.

Ramsbottom jumped out of the moving plane and started running, a base spokesman said. He suffered a broken hip and possible broken back, apparently from being shaken up inside the plane, the spokesman added.

Union Zoning Board Issues First Permit

The first building permit issued in Union Township for $10,000 private residence in an "A" zone area was issued Tuesday night by the township Zoning Board of Appeals.

Zoning in the township went into effect Jan. 1, the date set on legislation passed by Union Township voters in the November election.

Taking out the township's first permit was Joe Henry. He will be building a 1½ story frame home on the Jamestown Road near the Chaffin School.

Zoning Board chairman, Carl Wilt, reminded residents of the township that building permits are now necessary for all but farm construction.

Osman King, secretary of the Board of Appeals, is the man who actually issues the permits. The board serves as the final voice on contested decisions. According to state statutes zoning regulations and decisions made by the secretary are subject to appeal at all times.

KING CAN be found at his home on the Chillicothe Road, or reached by phone. The board plans to obtain a shingle for the King mailbox, to make it easier to spot the secretary's home.

King is the only paid agent of the board; members are unpaid. His income and expenses of the board will be covered by permit fees, according to Wilt. King's job is part time, aside from his regular work.

Starting off with a petition for zoning regulations by a group of citizens last spring, the five-man appeals board was picked as a zoning commission by trustees to set up a zoning plan and hold public hearings before the November elections.

The group has been working unofficially since then, gleaning advice and ideas from Union Twp. residents and other communities in setting up a zoning code.

The zoning regulations are set up along the same line as the city zoning code, Wilt said, following the state statutes.

Members on the board of appeals are chairman Carl Wilt, who will serve a five-year term; Glenn Heistand, appointed for four years; Joe White, three years, Frank Weade, two years and Frank Dill, one year.

THE REGULATIONS follow the pattern of the city zoning code and the Ohio statutes.

The zoning code, to be published by the board in pamphlet form and in the newspaper here soon, is the same as the proposal outlined for the voters before the November ballot. Recommendations made in the outline of the plan are incorporated in the zoning regulations.

Recommendations submitted for discussion and consideration before the November ballot were:

The zoning code for the township is the same as the proposal outlined for the voters before the November ballot.

Seventy-five parents turned out Tuesday night to discuss traffic problems at the Rose Avenue School and see film slides when the Rose Avenue Parent Teachers Association there met.

According to Mrs. Thurman Coulton, the problem of market-day traffic in front of the school was "discussed at length."

A committee was set up to purchase a new record player for the school. Thurman Coulter heads the committee, with Mrs. Edna Watts and Mrs. Harold Lyons assisting.

Mr. and Mrs. George Severs showed slides of their trip to Israel and the Holy Land. The slide showing was arranged by Mrs. Lee Alderman and Mrs. Ruth Ridge.

During the meeting Mrs. Coulter asked mothers to help in the march on polio.

Room mothers served as hostesses, headed by Mrs. Lois Oyer.

Sugar Creek Baptists To Meet On Sunday

A special business meeting of all members of the Sugar Creek Baptist Church on the Jamestown Pike has been called by the church officials.

The announcement made by Rev. F. G. Maurer, the pastor, said it would be held next Sunday morning following the regular worship service. The minister made an appeal for all members to "please attend."

Rev. Maurer said the subject for his sermon would be "Walking with God."

The recommendations submitted for consideration and discussion then were:

(3) State Route 70 north to the township line.

(4) U. S. 35 north to the township line.

(6) State Route 70 south to the township line.

(7) Route 35 south beginning at south side of Paint Creek to the township line.

(8) Route 3 or 62 east to the township line. Unless otherwise specified these all start at the City Limits.

The following highways to be zoned for commercial and industrial development.

(1) U. S. 3 and 62 west to the township line.

(2) Route 38 from City limits to the intersection of the Lewis Road.

(3) U. S. 22 east to township line.

(4) U. S. 35 south to intersection of Creek Road.

Civilian Defense Meeting Called

Thursday Session In Memorial Hall

A public meeting in the interest of civilian defense is to be held Thursday at 7:30 P. M. in Memorial Hall instead of the Farm Bureau auditorium as was originally planned.

In announcing the change in the meeting place, C. V. Sexton, the head of the Civilian Defense organization for Fayette County, explained the Farm Bureau auditorium had been engaged previously for another meeting and, thus, would not be available on Thursday night.

The purpose of the meeting, Sexton said, was to reorganize and revitalize the Civilian Defense unit here.

A representative of the Civilian Defense district headquarters is to come here to bring the people up to date on what is being done to provide a defense against possible enemy attack.

Most of the civilian defense program has been geared to the danger of an air attack by long-range high-speed aircraft carrying atomic bombs.

Sexton, in emphasizing the importance of civilian defense in Fayette County, pointed out that, although it is essentially agricultural, it is in the heart of a highly industrialized section of prime military importance.

He noted that atomic blasts affect a wider area than the old-fashioned bombs and that overshooting a target in, for example, Columbus or undershooting one in Dayton or Cincinnati could result in a direct hit on Fayette County.

He reminded, too, that the radioactive "fallout" would spread menace much farther than the concussion and fire of the explosion.

Sexton said that the reorganization framework has been put together with four key positions filled with what Sexton described as "very fine and qualified men."

Robert McAllister has been named deputy commander and chief aide of Sexton.

Loren Sheridan is the new director of communications;

Coyt Stookey is the coordinator and head of the auxiliary police;

George Montgomery is to head the rescue operations.

Sexton said the Thursday night meeting in Memorial Hall is open to everyone and expressed the hope that "we'll have a capacity turnout."

He said one of the purposes of the meeting was to impress the people of the community that there is a danger and a need for a civilian defense organization.

One of the most effective civilian defense systems in this section was set up in the Buena Vista community nearly two years ago. Sexton said he expected several from there at this meeting.

4-H Club Activities

Phyllis Wallace and Karen Woodmansee were added to the Jolly Jumpers 4-H club membership when the nine girls of that club met at the home of Joyce Sanderson.

Carol Patrick opened the meeting and Patty Arnold gave the secretary and treasurer's report.

Joyce demonstrated the techniques of egg cooking before the refreshments were served.

The Wayne Progressive Farmers 4-H club started in the new year's activities by electing new officers and setting up committees to plan the 1956 program and rewrite the club constitution.

The group has also split into two teams for a pest hunt, lasting from now until the last meeting in March.

The new president is Stanley Smith, with Barbara Kneisley, vice president; Nancy McFadden, secretary; Margaret Johnson, treasurer; Jo Ann Bonham, news reporter and four health and safety officers, Becky Warner, Jo Ann Bonham, Loy Overly and Ernie Herman.

Rewriting the constitution will be chairman Stanley Smith, aided by Barbara Kneisley, George Garlinger and Margaret Johnson.

The committee working on the year's program is headed by Billy Herman, with Beverly Stanforth, Jay Bonecutter and Joyce Garlinger.

Jerry Hoppes and George Garlinger are leading the two pest hunt teams, with Stanley Smith and Jo Ann Bonham each acting as a secretary.

The club will be helping out with the polio drive as part of this year's activity.

John McFadden, last year's president, opened the meeting.

Girl Scouts Hold Combined Meeting

Girl Scout troops one and two combined Tuesday night in a joint meeting at the GAR Hall for a program by the girls and to hear Andre Metais speak on the life of children in western Europe.

Metais, owner of the Schorr Jewelry here, spoke mostly on France, where he grew up. His talk was on education and customs for children and the standard of living.

French boys and girls, he said, attend separate schools run by the federal government, with female teachers for girls and men teaching the boys.

Customs for the youngsters include the requirement that, at the table, children speak only when spoken to. And parents and children eat separately until the child is ten.

The girls joined in a four-part round to open the meeting, with Barbara Shoop and Sharon Schorr presenting a pantomime. Carol Hyer and Shelby Tubbs sang and acted out the songs "Tennessee Wigwag" and "This Old House," wearing appropriate costume.

The meeting ended with Friendship Circle, made up of both troops, guests, parents of members and the Scout committees of both troops. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Drunk Driver Now Is In Workhouse

Unable to pay his fine of $200 and costs for drunk driving, and an old fine hanging over him, Herman R. Bennett, 29, city, was taken to the Cincinnati Workhouse Tuesday afternoon by Police Chief Vaiden Long, to start serving his long term in lieu of the fines.

Two drivers were picked up by the police here Tuesday. Emmett Saville, Sabina, was listed for making an illegal turn at a school sign on North Street and Cecil Hazelbaker, city, was cited for reckless operation.

Union Zoning Board Issues First Permit

The first building permit issued in Union Township—$10,000 private residence in an "A" zone area—was issued Tuesday night by the township Zoning Board of Appeals.

Zoning in the township went into effect Jan. 1, the date set on legislation passed by Union Township voters in the November election.

Taking out the township's first permit was Joe Henry. He will be building a 1½ story frame home on the Jamestown Road near the Chaffin School.

Zoning Board chairman, Carl Will, reminded residents of the township that building permits are now necessary for all but farm construction.

Osman King, secretary of the Board of Appeals, is the man who actually issues the permits. The board serves as the final voice on contested decisions. According to state statutes zoning regulations and decisions made by the secretary are subject to appeal at all times.

KING CAN be found at his home on the Chillicothe Road, or reached by phone. The board plans to obtain a shingle for the King mailbox, to make it easier to spot the secretary's home.

King is the only paid agent of the board; members are unpaid. His income and expenses of the board will be covered by permit fees, according to Will. King's job is part time, aside from his regular work.

Starting off with a petition for zoning regulations by a group of citizens last spring, the five-man appeals board was picked as a zoning commission by trustees to set up a zoning plan and hold public hearings before the November elections.

The group has been working unofficially since then, cleaning advice and ideas from Union Twp. residents and other communities in setting up a zoning code.

The zoning regulations are set up along the same line as the city zoning code, Will said, following the state statutes.

Members on the board of appeals are chairman Carl Will, who will serve a five-year term; Glenn Heistand, appointed for four years; Joe White, three years, Frank Weade, two years and Frank Dill, one year.

THE REGULATIONS follow the pattern of the city zoning code and the Ohio statutes.

The zoning code, to be published by the board in pamphlet form and in the newspaper here soon, is the same as the proposal outlined for the voters before the November ballot. Recommendations made in the outline of the plan are incorporated in the zoning regulations.

Recommendations submitted for discussion and consideration before the November ballot were:

According to Mrs. Thurman Coulter, the problem of market-day traffic in front of the school was "discussed at length."

A committee was set up to purchase a new record player for the school. Thurman Coulter heads the committee, with Mrs. Edna Watts and Mrs. Harold Lyons assisting.

Mr. and Mrs. George Severs showed slides of their trip to Israel and the Holy Land. The slide showing was arranged by Mrs. Lee Alderman and Mrs. Ruth Ridge. During the meeting Mrs. Coulter asked mothers to help in the march on polio.

Room mothers served as hostesses, headed by Mrs. Lois Oyer.

Civilian Defense Meeting Called

Thursday Session
In Memorial Hall

A public meeting in the interest of civilian defense is to be held Thursday at 7:30 P. M. in Memorial Hall instead of the Farm Bureau auditorium as was originally planned.

In announcing the change in the meeting place, C. V. Sexton, the head of the Civilian Defense organization for Fayette County, explained the Farm Bureau auditorium had been engaged previously for another meeting and, thus, would not be available on Thursday night.

The purpose of the meeting, Sexton said, was to reorganize and revitalize the Civilian Defense unit here.

A representative of the Civilian Defense district headquarters is to come here to bring the people up to date on what is being done to put up a defense against possible enemy attack.

Most of the civilian defense program has been geared to the danger of an air attack by long-range high-speed aircraft carrying atomic bombs.

Sexton, in emphasizing the importance of civilian defense in Fayette County, pointed out that, although it is essentially agricultural, it is in the heart of a highly industrialized section of prime military importance.

He noted that atomic blasts affect a wider area than the old-fashioned bombs and that over-shooting a target in, for example, Columbus or undershooting one in Dayton or Cincinnati could result in a direct hit on Fayette County.

He reminded, too, that the radioactive "fallout" would spread much farther than the concussion and fire of the explosion.

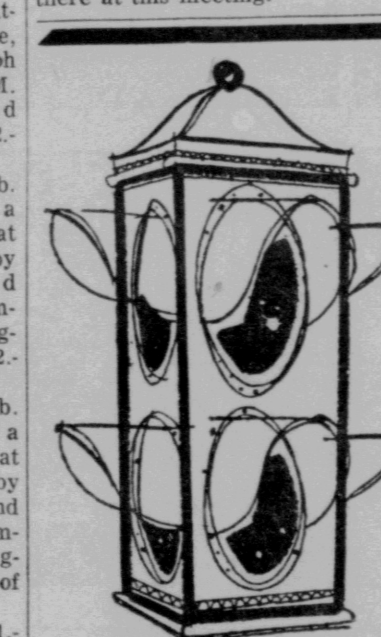

Sexton said that the reorganization framework has been put together with four key positions filled with what Sexton described as "very fine and qualified men."

Robert McAllister has been named deputy commander and chief aide of Sexton.

Loren Sheridan is the new director of communications; Coyt Stookey is the coordinator and head of the auxiliary police; George Montgomery is to head the rescue operations.

Sexton said the Thursday night meeting in Memorial Hall is open to everyone and expressed the hope that "we'll have a capacity turnout." He said one of the purposes of the meeting was to impress the people of the community that there is a danger and a need for a civilian defense organization.

One of the most effective civilian defense systems in this section was set up in the Buena Vista community nearly two years ago. Sexton said he expected several from there at this meeting.

4-H Club Activities

Phyllis Wallace and Karen Woodmansee were added to the Jolly Jumpers 4-H club membership when the nine girls of that club met at the home of Joyce Sander-son.

Carol Patrick opened the meeting and Patty Arnold gave the secretary and treasurer's report. Joyce demonstrated the techniques of egg cooking before the refreshments were served.

The Wayne Progressive Farmers 4-H club started in the new year's activities by electing new officers and setting up committees to plan the 1956 program and rewrite the club constitution.

The group has also split into two teams for a pest hunt, lasting from now until the last meeting in March.

The new president is Stanley Smith, with Barbara Kneisley, vice president; Nancy McFadden, secretary; Margaret Johnson, treasurer; Jo Ann Bonham, news reporter and four health and safety officers, Becky Warner, Jo Ann Bonham, Loy Overly and Ernie Herman.

Rewriting the constitution will be chairman Stanley Smith, aided by Barbara Kneisley, George Gar- ringer and Margaret Johnson.

The committee working on the year's program is headed by Billy Herman, with Beverly Stanforth, Jay Bonecutter and Joyce Gar- ringer.

Jerry Hoppes and George Gar- ringer are leading the two pest hunt teams, with Stanley Smith and Jo Ann Bonham each acting as a secretary.

The club will be helping out with the polio drive as part of this year's activity.

John McFadden, last year's president, opened the meeting.

Firemen Make Run To Check Smoke

Firemen at 8:40 A. M. Wednesday were called to the John Enoch home at 1027 Lakeview Avenue, when dense smoke started pouring from a chimney forming the vent for a gas furnace.

Firemen found no fire, but believe the sudden smoke was due to soot falling in the chimney and igniting.

Girl Scouts Hold Combined Meeting

Girl Scout troops one and two combined Tuesday night in a joint meeting at the GAR Hall for a program by the girls and to hear Andre Metais speak on the life of children in western Europe.

Metais, owner of the Schorr Jewelry here, spoke mostly on France, where he grew up. His talk was on education and customs for children and the standard of living.

French boys and girls, he said, attend separate schools run by the federal government, with female teachers for girls and men teaching the boys.

Customs for the youngsters include the requirement that, at the table, children speak only when spoken to. And parents and children eat separately until the child is ten.

The girls joined in a four-part round to open the meeting, with Barbara Shoop and Sharon Schorr
